

LumberCell Mobile Software

Key Features

Compatible with Most Handhelds

LumberCell is compatible with most hand held devices such as BlackBerry, Palm Treo, Dell Axim series, HP IPAQ, palm pilot, and smart phones.

Eliminate Double Entry

LumberCell eliminates double entry of information and possible clerical mistakes. There is no need to call orders in because information submitted is instantly integrated with Lumbergear. LumberCell ensures that customer orders are secured, fulfilled, and delivered on time, making it possible for mobile workers to quickly close deals and surpass quotas.

Real-time Integration with Lumbergear

LumberCell integrates real-time information with Lumbergear. Lumbergear features a powerful, integrated system that allows for easy lumber inventory tracking and costing. The powerful integration feature between LumberCell and Lumbergear make the duo a powerful solution for serious lumber companies.

Easy Order Processing System

The intuitive features and advanced functionality make the order entering process a snap. You can quickly enter purchase orders and sales orders on your handheld. The smart and quick transaction processing system makes it possible to enter orders without a lot of typing.

Email Sales and Purchase Orders

In addition to quick transaction processing, LumberCell allows you to email sales and purchase orders to your customers or vendor with a pdf attachment of the actual order.

Track Inventory and Costing

Tracking sales is extremely easy in LumberCell. You can see real-time inventory and costs from the back office.

LumberCell is the first advanced mobile software in the lumber and wood products industry to provide mobile workers with a nearly complete transaction processing system right from their fingertips, allowing salespersons and mobile workers to stay connected regardless of location.

Salespersons and Mobile Workers Sidekick

LumberCell keeps salespeople on top of their game, providing real-time access to company information and giving them the edge to process orders faster while achieving greater productivity. LumberCell is designed to be used by the goals oriented salesperson, or by performance driven sales team that add value to the bottom line. LumberCell is a software add-on to Lumbergear. The powerful integration feature between LumberCell and Lumbergear make the duo a powerful solution for serious lumber companies.

Real-time Integration

Real-time integration allows mobile workers to always be connected to Lumbergear, and co-workers in the main office. The just-in-time model allows mobile workers to collaborate with production and stay on top of new orders. You have access to real-time inventory information, and can place sales and purchase orders in real-time, and email them to your customer or vendor, even before you leave their office. Now that's efficiency!
